Rialto managing director Jeff Schrull has chosen sunny Perth over the dreary skies of London - and will step down from the role by mid-2013.

Rialto, which is ASX and AIM-listed, will now start looking for a new managing director.

Schrull will still be around for key Rialto events, including its exploration drilling campaign offshore Ivory Coast in 2013, a potential farm-out and early-stage planning for the Gazelle development.

Schrull said he made the decision for personal reasons.
