

Simon Zoller

RIALTO ENERGY is pleased to announce the appointment of Simon Zoller as its Corporate Drilling Manager.

Simon Zoller will manage Rialto's current three well drilling program in Block CI 202, Côte d'Ivoire - which commenced in March with the spudding of the Gazelle-P3 well.

As well as overseeing future drilling operations, Simon has over 12 years experience in shallow and deepwater drilling, project management and other related fields - including work on projects located in the West African region where Rialto's Gazelle Field is located.

Prior to joining Rialto, Simon held drilling management positions with Premier Oil and Tullow Oil, where he gained relevant experience conducting drilling campaigns offshore West Africa, including the Jubilee development offshore Ghana.

He recently supervised a drilling campaign off the north-west coast of Australia for Japan Energy and has also held drilling positions at Enterprise Oil and Peak Well Management Asia Pacific. He graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering from Aberdeen University and a Masters degree in Petroleum Engineering from Edinburgh's Heriot-Watt University. ●
