

Rialto Energy

Experienced drilling manager Simon Zoller has joined Rialto Energy to manage the company's current three-well campaign in the Ivory Coast as well as oversee future drilling operations.

Zoller, who held drilling management positions with Premier Oil and Tullow Oil, has more than 12 years experience in shallow and deepwater drilling, project management and other related fields including working on projects located in the west African region where Rialto's Gazelle field is located.