

Rialto Energy

As Rialto gears up for its Ivory Coast drilling and a listing on the Alternative Metals Index, Bruce Burrows has been bumped up from non-executive director to non-executive chairman.

Rialto said the move was part of a succession program as Glenn Whiddon vacates the chair and steps into a non-executive director's role.

Burrows has over 17 years experience in the resources sector, and Rialto was keen to appoint Burrows as his specialist knowledge of London capital markets will hopefully make life in London more lucrative.